Dear fellow birders, naturalists, and travelers,

As you look over our offerings here, keep in mind that our competitive pricing for land-based trips includes so much more than other comparable tours:

- Leadership of one Mass Audubon staff naturalist in partnership with at least one local guide
- Medical evacuation insurance coverage
- Carbon offsets for all trip flights
- All tips/gratuities for all drivers, guides, and staff, specifically to ensure local staff is well paid. (For most trips, this amounts to $300–$400 per person.)
- Support for locally-owned lodges and businesses
- Whenever possible, we connect with, and support, local conservation groups
- Finally, when you travel with us, you support Mass Audubon’s conservation work. All profits from tours support our mission.

Thanks for choosing to support our work.

Karen ONeill
Director, Natural History Travel
800-289-9504
koneill@massaudubon.org

Guatemala
February 22–29, 2020; with Sue MacCallum
plus optional highland extension

Explore the heart of the Maya world: known for its wondrous bird life, vibrant indigenous culture, fascinating archeological sites, and natural history treasures.

Belize
March 7–15, 2020; with Bob Speare
plus optional barrier reef extension

Bird every day, explore three outstanding Maya sites, swim in rivers (swim/snorkel in the ocean on the extension), hike the Maya Mountains, canoe/tube the Macal River, or just relax on the grounds of our wonderful lodgings nestled in gorgeous natural surroundings.
Peruvian Amazon Riverboat Cruise
Aboard the Zafiro
March 27–April 5, 2020 | Wayne Petersen
November 13–22, 2020 | TBD
Our luxurious, five-star riverboat will allow us to explore in comfort the wildlife, forests, and people of the great Amazon rainforest.

Colombia: Birding the Central Andes
February 29–March 12, 2020 (waitlist only) with Dave Larson
A paradise for birders, Colombia has the highest bird species count of any country in the world, with well over 1900 species.

Galápagos Cruise: Remote Northern and Central Islands
April 3–12, 2020 with Joan Walsh & David Sibley
NEW itinerary includes Genovesa Island (Bird Island), famous for its nesting seabird populations, where we'll hike among red-footed boobies, storm petrels & short-eared owls. (Only three cabins left.)

Panama's Wild Darién
April 3–11, 2020 | Elissa Landre plus optional Canopy Lodge extension
The Darién province is a birder's paradise. Wake to the buzzy trills of Golden-headed Manakins lekking in the forests beside the camp. From tiny, colorful poison dart frogs on the forest floor to Red-throated Caracaras in the canopy above, these forests are full of life. At the end of the day, doze off to the calls of owls, potoos, nightjars, and a symphony of frogs, snuggling down in comfort in custom-designed tents with full amenities.

Panama's Wild Darién
April 3–11, 2020 | Elissa Landre plus optional Canopy Lodge extension
The Darién province is a birder’s paradise. Wake to the buzzy trills of Golden-headed Manakins lekking in the forests beside the camp. From tiny, colorful poison dart frogs on the forest floor to Red-throated Caracaras in the canopy above, these forests are full of life. At the end of the day, doze off to the calls of owls, potoos, nightjars, and a symphony of frogs, snuggling down in comfort in custom-designed tents with full amenities.

Iceland
May 24–June 2, 2020 | Sue MacCallum
June 13–22, 2020 | Flavio Sutti
We’ll explore the otherworldly beauty of the Icelandic coasts and countryside at the height of breeding season when millions of alcids and waterfowl cover the land—the cliffs, the shores, the meadows, and even the roads—often startlingly oblivious to human approach. You’ll treasure close-up experiences with Redshanks, Eurasian Oystercatchers, and Arctic Terns.

Brazil: Exploring the Wild Pantanal
July 2-12, 2020 | Sue MacCallum
A mecca for neotropical birding, Brazil boasts the second-richest avifauna in the world with an incredible 1837 bird species and an amazing 230 endemics. We’ll bird a range of habitats: savanna, forest, fazenda, and wetlands, including the sprawling Pantanal floodplains.

Perú’s Manu Road
October 7–24, 2020 | TBD
The Manu Biosphere Reserve has the highest diversity of life on Earth and is one of the most important conservation areas in the world. This tour includes superb birding and the search for spectacular endemics in gorgeous cloud forests, the Amazonian rainforest, and the Manu lowlands.

Antarctica: Falklands and South Georgia Islands
October 31–November 18, 2020
The ultimate voyage traversing some of the most interesting areas in the Southern Ocean: astounding vistas, thrilling pelagic birding, somnolent seals and feeding whales amidst stark and amazing beauty.

PHOTO CREDITS: Hoatzin by David Moon (cover); Yellow-throated Euphonia by Mark Faherty; Tikal by Laura Hare; South Water Caye Reserve, via Jaguar Reef Lodge; Bay-headed Tanager by Francesco Veronesi via Flickr (CC BY-SA 2.0); Darién camp via Canopy Camp; Antarctic Fur Seal by Markus Lilje.

For information on all of our tours and to view/download detailed itineraries, visit us at massaudubon.org/travel or email us at travel@massaudubon.org.

Please send the 2020 itineraries for:

- Guatemala | Feb 22-29
- Colombia* | Feb 29-Mar 12
- Belize | Mar 7-15
- Botswana* | Mar 17-27
- Amazon | Mar 27-Apr 5
- Panama | Apr 3-11
- Galápagos | Apr 3-12
- Iceland | May 24-Jun 2
- Iceland | Jun 13-22
- Mongolia | TBD
- Brazil | Jul 2-12
- Peru | Oct 6-24
- Antarctica | Oct 31-Nov 18
- Amazon | Nov 13-22

* Waitlist only.

Email: ____________________________
Phone: ____________________________